Germany Facing Food Shortages To Export Grain

BERLIN, Oct. 4.—Germany's food shortages, hints of which were given Sunday by Chancellor Brüder, were more fully revealed today in official statistics.

Germany will be obliged again to import considerable quantities of grain, Havana News Agency learned, as the 1937 harvest will not cover the nation's needs for bread cereals.

Fire Prevention of Supreme Importance To Every Citizen

It would be somewhat difficult to visualize a city such as ours without a fire brigade, and no one thinking much about it.

Consequently "Fire Prevention Week" arrives at an opportune time of the year, when chilly days and nights come along and folks welcome the heat and warmth of indoors.

Therefore, our fire brigade's warning is timely, because the "red demon" is ever a destructive agent.

Last year Alberta's total fire loss was $1,333,333, caused by 1,276 fires. In Edmonton during 1936 there were 745 fires, with approximately property destroyed to the total of $145,355.25.

These are alarming figures when carefully analyzed and certainly a "Fire Prevention Week" is fully justified. Very few of our citizens realize the responsibility devolving upon Edmonton's fire brigade.

Even the Edmonton fire department which our city owes is a factor which our fire brigade faces when the weather turns cold.

It is not only fighting fires but the inspection of buildings and hundreds of other incidents duties which Edmonton's fire brigade has to attend.

Fire Chief Dutton has built up a fire-fighting machine which is second to none in the dominion, and the second high award, between him and his men was thoroughly deserved.

The introduction of nature gas in Edmonton during these past few years has, of course, to a very large extent, minimized the hazards of fire. Nevertheless it is indeed a very comforting thought to see 10,000 people to know that near and far, and especially in the case of a fire, that we are safeguarded by a brigade of locally trained men who band together in a moment's notice an up-to-date fighting system.

It behooves every one, therefore, to be prepared.

EAST'S ANGER IS AROUSED BY PRESS BILL

ture as the Accurate News and Information Act is not to be construed as anything less than a step and the most important one, in the creation of a dictatorship, the answer is that a bad principle is not less bad because its execution is difficult or clumsy. Mr. Aberhart quite obviously, knows nothing of the press or its methods, of its mechanism, or of the body and practice and principles which govern it.

MONTREAL GAZETTE: With the introduction into the legislature of Premier Aberhart's press control bill, the citizens of Alberta will also more clearly, perhaps, than heretofore, to gain an idea of the extraordinary lengths to which the Social Credit government at Edmonton will push domination and dictatorship if its rule is allowed much longer to continue.

MONTREAL STAR: The new Aberhart bill to regulate the news is a startling document. The Alberta premier does not seem to be so concerned over the rights of the news of the papers as with getting his own control.

OTTAWA CITIZEN: Newspapers throughout Canada may be expected to react with indignation to the present measure before the Alberta legislature, introduced by the "Accurate News and Information Act."

OTTAWA LEADER: Mr. Aberhart never liked the newspapers. He accuses them of partiality against the government. He wants to correct that. That is the government's law. It is submitted to the legislature a law to regulate the press.

TORONTO TELEGRAM: Unless the people of Alberta are completely deceived, the Alberta government is attempting to hamstring the press will hurt its government more than it does the newspapers.

SENTEL REVIEW, Woodstock, Ont.: The attempt to place the newspapers under the control of the government is one of the worst demonstrations of dictatorial intent that Canada has experienced in modern times. It would seem that any government in Canada that desires to take the newspapers by the throat has something which it wants to conceal.

HALIFAX HERALD: The Aberhart government's latest move is to destroy a free press. In plain language, it will attempt to take the newspapers by the throat, to place them under the control of the government. That is the purpose of the bill.

SYDNEY POST-RECORD: Legislation designed to place all newspapers in Alberta under government control would, if enacted and allowed to stand, establish a press censorship and a system of official propaganda quite as effective as that of Fascist Italy.

SAINT JOHN TELEGRAPH JOURNAL: The bill provisions drafted by Mr. Aberhart and his staff of stupid dealers added with unnecessary burdens in the control of the press for their own purposes. Aberhart does not plan to control but to use the press for his own discarded ends without the trouble of assuring the public of direction.

HAMILTON SPECTATOR: The bill introduced into the legislature of Alberta is vicious in principle and inimical to the public interest. Control of the press in the dictatorship is the first step of Europe has reduced the newspapers to the status of a service medium for official propaganda.

PETERBORO EXAMINER: The security of the province demands that the government of Alberta is coming to believe that it is desirable to have control and dictate to newspapers and the news legal step will be taken.

Increased Newspaper Ad Space to Aid Auto Sales

McKim Limited; Claus Anderson, Canadian sales manager, Nash Motors Division of Nash-Kelvinator Corp.; and Mr. C. H. Bliss, vice-president and director of sales, Nash-Kelvinator Corporation. The picture was taken at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, when at the preview of 1938 Nash advertising arrangements were completed for the Dominion of Canada.

The Nash officials are pleased with prospects in Canada. They have always shown confidence in this country and their distributor and dealer organization is exceedingly strong. Newspaper advertising has always been the backbone of Nash campaigns. A. McKim Limited, advertising agency in charge for Canada, have issued contracts to the newspapers of the Dominion calling for the use of increased advertising space for 1938. The 1938 models, which incorporate many revolutionary features, will be displayed across the Dominion within the next few weeks.

THREE DIE IN BRITISH CRASH

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Three persons died Saturday in an airplane crash at Donington, near Derby, when the aircraft, introduced by the "Accurate News and Information Act."

OTTAWA LEADER: Mr. Aberhart never liked the newspapers. He accuses them of partiality against the government. He wants to correct that. That is the government's law. It is submitted to the legislature a law to regulate the press.

TORONTO TELEGRAM: Unless the people of Alberta are completely deceived, the Alberta government is attempting to hamstring the press will hurt its government more than it does the newspapers.

SENTEL REVIEW, Woodstock, Ont.: The attempt to place the newspapers under the control of the government is one of the worst demonstrations of dictatorial intent that Canada has experienced in modern times. It would seem that any government in Canada that desires to take the newspapers by the throat has something which it wants to conceal.

HALIFAX HERALD: The Aberhart government's latest move is to destroy a free press. In plain language, it will attempt to take the newspapers by the throat, to place them under the control of the government. That is the purpose of the bill.

SYDNEY POST-RECORD: Legislation designed to place all newspapers in Alberta under government control would, if enacted and allowed to stand, establish a press censorship and a system of official propaganda quite as effective as that of Fascist Italy.

SAINT JOHN TELEGRAPH JOURNAL: The bill provisions drafted by Mr. Aberhart and his staff of stupid dealers added with unnecessary burdens in the control of the press for their own purposes. Aberhart does not plan to control but to use the press for his own discarded ends without the trouble of assuring the public of direction.

HAMILTON SPECTATOR: The bill introduced into the legislature of Alberta is vicious in principle and inimical to the public interest. Control of the press in the dictatorship is the first step of Europe has reduced the newspapers to the status of a service medium for official propaganda.

PETERBORO EXAMINER: The security of the province demands that the government of Alberta is coming to believe that it is desirable to have control and dictate to newspapers and the news legal step will be taken.

OTTAWA LEADER: Mr. Aberhart never liked the newspapers. He accuses them of partiality against the government. He wants to correct that. That is the government's law. It is submitted to the legislature a law to regulate the press.

Bank Legislation Facing Axe, View Hed at Ottawa

Unofficial Opinion Holds That Press Licensing May Not Come Under Ban From Federal Authorities

OTTAWA, Oct. 4.—With Ontario bending before a final blast of general election oratory, Prime Minister William Aberhart and his Social Credit government of Alberta crowd into the political spotlight this week with new legislation that may again require direct constitutional action by the dominion government.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King has maintained comparative silence on both outstanding features of the political picture.

REBELS PRESS ASSAULT ON LONE GARRISON

BANK LEGISLATION

On the press and bank legislation now before Alberta's special session, Mr. King said the government would consider it when it was submitted in official form.

Unofficially the opinion in government circles is that Mr. Aberhart's new bank control legislation, as equally as unconstitutional as the bank bill passed in August and disallowed by the federal government. The press regulation measure, it is believed by constitutional authorities here, does not constitute a provincial power.

The assumption in Ottawa is the government would have no choice but to disallow the bank legislation, as it did a similar measure in 1935. Under terms of the British North America Act all provincial statutes must be submitted to the governor general in council for approval. If the Dominion government decides to disallow a provincial statute, it does so without sending a message. When disallowance was exercised a few weeks ago, for the first time in more than a decade, very full reasons were given—constitutional grounds.

TO SUPREME COURT

It is possible the new bank legislation, at least, may be submitted to the supreme court. Mr. King was willing to do this before the last disallowance, providing the statute in question would not be found to be a provincial power. Tears in Regina

The Sad Story

Too Far Apart

There are probably enough tears around Regina today to settle most of the dust that plagued that city throughout the summer. If more moisture is needed it will only be necessary to mention the Roughriders. Single games in western football for a quarter of a century, the famous Riders were eliminated from the Western Conference championship race in Calgary on Saturday without having won a single game out of five played.

The straight grid defeat and you can't blame the citizens if they feel a bit groggy about it.

What is more, Calgary and Winnipeg are also probably feeling a little groggy and bewildered about it for it may mean the end of big time football in western Canada. Regina has not yet had time to go into a full and excited discussion of the situation and the effect which it may have on next season's football, although it is generally conceded that the reaction is likely to be hardly as biased or prejudiced.

It is Regina that has this attitude. It can be highly pleased or acutely disappointed in its team. To keep such teams as the Roughriders, Bombers and Bronks in the field requires a terrific amount of money on the part of a handful of enthusiastic citizens—and a flock of ready cash. When the west was building teams with the object of creating the Canadian title away from the plebeian crowd, such efforts could be justified. Now, however, now that the Canadian championship has wisely been dropped, it is doubtful if the work and expense which these super-teams entail can be justified.

It's the Same Old Story

When you stop to consider western football in the light of comparative efforts and returns, you come right back to the problem that every team in the west has had to face from the beginning and for a good many years. The fans demand too high a calibre of play. Attendance will not keep pace in a paying ratio to the improvement in playing ability except in isolated instances.

In Regina, it is Edmonton that has hit that snag and so has football. On Saturday the E.A.C. and Calgary Ponies staged a game that was well worth any grid fan's money, yet not more than 500 people went through the turnstiles. Considerable money was paid for the game, but the fans were drawing a low level of admission than they admit and that it will be quite a problem to keep the line at the red. Winnipeg backers have had to lay it on the line in sizable chunks more than once to keep the Bombers going.

The whole football situation in the west is discouraging, to put it frankly. If local talent is used, the fans just stay at home in well organized battalions. If you start importing, you have to get yourself a winning club or you don't get the added patronage that is imperative. Unfortunately some clubs have to lose—and they take it on the chin when they do.

Blame It On Geography

CONSIDERING the population of eastern and western Canadian cities, in proportion to average sport attendance, you have to come to the conclusion that the west probably supports sport better, on a per capita basis than does the east. The basic trouble, however, is even deeper than the matter of public support. It is the fact that western cities are so far apart that travelling expenses, especially for big football clubs, become terrific. They are away out of proportion to the gates that can safely be expected.

If Regina should decide to go out of the football importing business, a new set-up will have to be worked out for the west. It will not be possible to field teams of all-Americans, but it should be possible by a strict limitation of imports to produce teams that will at least give the fans some football.

Whether the Western Conference could be made to function on this reduced calibre is another question—and a serious one when you look at the travelling costs involved. There is no getting around the fact that football's most expensive team sport of them all. The cost of equipment alone is enough to give a manager a fit.

Miners May Be Surprised

WHILE every day brings new rumors about the players that are being lined up by this and that team in the Alberta Big Six Hockey League, little or nothing has been heard from Drumheller. Reports from the Coal City team, however, indicate that they are busy in the player market, devoting most of its efforts toward men who are in the player market. East. Those closely connected with the club believe that when the Miners first out on the ice they may flash the strongest squad they have had in years.

NEWARK BEARS

BEAT REDBIRDS

COLUMBIA, O., Oct. 4.—Newark Bears, champions of the International League, combined 11 hits with five Columbia errors Saturday night to defeat the Redbirds 10-4 in the fourth game of the 10-game series. It was Newark's first win in four starts.

The Bears, who won 21 and lost four games during the regular season, kept the Birds in control all the way, allowing but one hit in the first inning. A crowd of 10,000 sat in the stands, the gate receipts were $7,700.14, and the Bears won the series 4-2.

Attack Brings Rousing Touchdown in Final Quarter

Stevens to Foster Combination Gains Big Yardage with Passes—Buck Kelly Stars as Ball Carrier

By Jack Kelly

TURNING loose a brilliant forward pass attack that clicked sensationally at times, the Edmonton Athletic Club scored a 7-0 victory over the Calgary Ponies in Saturday afternoon's exhibition football game at Renfrew Park.

The invaders, secondary team of the Bronks, displayed an unexpected line power and repeatedly stopped Edmonton thrusts when they neared the scoring line. After a scoreless first half devoted to vain efforts to smash through the Pony herd for a touchdown, Coach Dwyer shifted his attack to the air and it paid off with a victory.

The E.A.C. got its first two points when four linemen pulled down Jack Howard behind the Calgary line. The invaders then tried to run the ball out just before the close of the third quarter. Edmonton had forced the Ponies back their forward line and then lost the ball. It was on the first Pony drive that Howard's kick missed fire.

AIR ATTACK STARTS
It was in the last quarter that Ernie Stevens began flexing the spectacular forward pass game that gave the E.A.C. their touchdown. Play was near the center line when the invaders found a hole in the Calgary line. Stevens took a perfect pass from Stevens to gain 15 yards and then a five-yard line. E.A.C. tried a buck, but the Calgary line held firm.

Hit the line.
In picture No. 2 the ball carrier is on his way to hit a hole in the line. He starts with quick, short steps and runs with fast wide-knee high, head and eyes up, and with his weight forward. The ball is covered by the two arms with each hand over the point of the back. The back is bent over keeping the runner low as he hits the line.

Over though he straightens up and tucks the ball under one arm and breaks to the open field.

Never—always run hard; it may be the difference between the joy of a win or the sadness of a defeat.

Next: Kicking.

NEVER LEAVE YOUR FEET
It is through this common fault that so many injuries result from this game. Many players leave their feet when they are tackled, and this is a dangerous error. The feet should be kept on the ground at all times. The runner should be straight as the opposite foot, give him the ball, and then from which he springs laterally as the tackler moves for the decorated foot. The air film is pulled and the hips are swung with the arms. The runner is used mostly in open field running.

THE PIVOT
The pivot is a type of dodge used effectively in close line play. It is a dangerous play, but the movement is not executed correctly. The pivot is a type of dodge used effectively in close line play. It is a dangerous play, but the movement is not executed correctly.

HITTING THE LINE—BUCKING
You may have two types of buckers—the little fellow that knifes or slices through the line, or the big fellow that barge and hit straight on. The former is usually faster, therefore, needs quick opening, while the latter must have an opening that is more definite and larger. In either case both of them must maintain their feet in their movements toward, into and behind the line.

Most games on algebra or wet fields are won and lost along the line of scrimmage. Should the line be evenly matched the team with the harder running backs usually wins. Hence speed and intensity of attack are vital assets to any backer, particularly the latter. On goal lines, victory may be a matter of inches—a hard driving backer, never giving, but always taking that extra inch.

COVENTRY CITY REMAINS ONLY ELEVEN UNBEATEN IN ENGLISH SOCCER LEAGUE

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Reflecting the fierce fight being waged for football honors, Coventry City is the only club of 18 in the English Soccer League with an unbeaten record although the season is hardly more than a month old. The teams are still shooting at Preston North End's feat of winning the championship without losing a match—a record that has stood since 1899.

Charlton Athletic had its colors lowered for the first time in the season on Saturday night when it was defeated by a 2-1 score. Meanwhile the league champions continued their unbeaten path, chalked up the sixth win of the season.

Big crowds attended the various matches during the season. For their match against Arsenal introduced George Hunt at centre-forward. Arsenal won 2-1. Tottenham Hotspur won 2-1.

Smacking the ball all over Renfrew park Sunday afternoon, John Ducey, captain of the Busses, led his team to a 2-1 victory over Riverdale in the final game of the season. The Busses were the only team to win all four games of the season.
